Sam Shane, KOVR-13 Anchor:

A few Sacramento students are using their holiday week to clean up the community, part of a project called the Greenhouse to bring the community together. The group cleaning up the area around River Garden Mutual Housing apartments on Northview Drive are putting in a pathway, painting a mural and planting a community garden.

Tiffany Guerra, Sacramento Mutual Housing Association Intern:

They've come together to create their own plots of land to grow their own crops for food. It's really amazing.

Shane: Volunteers hope to have the job finished by Friday. If they plant basil, it should be ready to go in about two days in this weather. And then they'll be in business.

Tiffany is a Mutual Housing Intern.
