Senior project manager, Mutual Housing California

Mutual Housing California recently hired Keith Bloom as Senior Project Manager to coordinate the planning, financing and construction of the nonprofit's affordable rental housing developments.

Prior to joining Mutual Housing, Bloom worked in multi-family development with Thompson | Dorfman Partners, LLC, where he performed project feasibility analysis and due diligence, processed entitlements through local governments, managed the development team during entitlement, predevelopment, and construction phases, and provided ongoing communications with the projects' lenders and investor partners.

Bloom has an M.B.A. from the Graduate School of Management at the University of California, Davis, and a B.A. in Political Science from Stanford University.

Founded in 1988, Mutual Housing California develops and operates well-designed rental housing for the diversity of the region's households. The communities have 3,000 residents, nearly half of whom are children.
